HOW TO JUDGE A WOMAN BY HER HAIR

There is real common sense in just noticing whether the hair is well kept to judge of a woman's neatness, or good taste. If you are one of the tew who try to make the most of your hair, remember that it is not advisable to wash the hair with any cleanser made for all purposes, but always use some good shampeo. You can enjoy the very best by getting some Canthrox from your druggist, dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. Dandruff, excess oil, and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its luster and soft-ness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—(Adv.)

Advice of Dr. Hill in Sermon on Deathbed Repentance at First Christian Revival

An increasing interest is being shown in the 'evival services being conducted at the First Christian church by 'the pastor, Dr. Claude E. Hill. In addition to the choir of fifty voices a five-piece orchestra made up of members of the Christian Endeavor society of the church adds attractiveness to the musical pro-gram. The topic for last night's sermon was "Deathbed Repentance." Dr. Hill used for his text Luke xxiii:39-44—the story of the thief on the cross—and spoke, in part, as follows:

"Man must do something about sin. God has done something about it. But all that God has done something about it. But all that God has done will not avail anything except man himself does something. Man must work with God. God has done something about food, but unless man does something he will starve. The man who depends only on the sface of God to feed him will become a beggar. We must plow the land and till the soil. We must sow the seed and harvest the crop.

West of the Azores, and we started rowing.

"The sub lay just awash watching us go. When we were a half mile distant a regular waterspout broke loose under the Czarland. She heaved up amidships. A puff of yellowish smoke roled up, and then our ship slipped backward and plunged out of sight. Within ten minutes the eGrman boat disappeared north.

Rowed Two Days and Nights.

"It took fifty-eight hours of steady rowing before we made Fayal, one of the lesser islands of the archipelago. By good luck an American submarine must plow the land and thi the col. we must sow the seed and harvest the crop. Now, repentance is a part of a man's work in doing away with sin. It is something all men must do.

Repentance means to turn. So Jones used to say it meant to quit your meanness and stay quit. I would put it another way. I would say it means to try with God's help to give up sin. Men as a rule do not break off habits of years all at once. When a man wants to quit and tries to quit and asks God's help the appointed means-why, by and by he will quit. Coming up from the sea with tales as stirring as those of G. Henry or Robert Louis the Beloved, George D. Miller, eight years a sallor, now private in Sanitary Company No, 1, Camp Greenleaf, Ga., tells of torpedoed steamers, a running sea fight between two subs and an American collier, and the German bombardment of a somnolent sun-washed town in the Azores.

On May 28, 1917, the Portuguese steamer Czarland, bound for Genoa, Italy, with a cargo of eleven American lecomotives, was hailed by a German submarine 150 miles west of the Azores. Private Miler, then a sailor on the Czarland, describes the occurrence.

"An undersea boat popped up within haif a mile of us and stopped us with a shot across the bow. After a bit a boat put off and brought a German officer alongside. He hung time bombs onto the Czarland and told the crew to get into the lifeboats and pull away.

The same was our bearings, 150 miles way to the submarines. The town.

Subs Attack Town.

"On the Fourth of July, during our stay, two German submarines attacked the town of San Miguel, and dropped fifteen shels in the city. They killed the buildings in San Miguel are of stone. The walls and floors are made very thick for coolness. German shells would go from roof to basement of three-storied stone buildings and exploded in front of the police station.

"San Miguel was fortified by only two forts and each fort mounted one old-time cannon. They shot black powder and we could follow the course of the shells by a streak of black smoke. The shells didn't reach half way to the submarines. The town. of the shells by a streak of black smoke. The shells didn't reach half way to the submarines. The town would have been destroyed if an Amer-ican collier had not been in the harbor. This coilier mounted two four-inch guns. She sailed out of the harbor and attacked the subs.

Celebrate the Fourth.

"I watched the battle. It was the bigest Fourth of July celebration I ever saw. The subs seemed to fire out of the ocean. The American stood straight toward them, firing from fore straight toward them, firing from fore and aft guns as she steamed. The combatants were about six or seven miles apart. The collier never did sink a submarine but both of them submerged under her fire and never came to the surface again. If it had not been for her the whole city would have been destroyed for the forts were powerless. But is was some fight."

Private Miller said that during this war sailors were receiving $90 a month wages, where they received only $45 before the trouble broke out.

BARONESS MUST WATCH HER STEP

Her Visit to Washington in Interest of Son Calls Forth Letter From District Attorney.

The Baroness Iona W. Sutton Zollner is in receipt of a letter from District At-torney-General W. T. The letter further states that unless the baroness lives up to the agreement made baroness lives up to the agreement made to the court she will be interned as soon as the bill now pending before congress interning alien women is passed.

C. C. Abernathy, attorney for the baroness, was sent a copy of the letter and expressed himself as very much sur-prised at the latest action of the attor-

Mr. Abernathy said: "I do not want to try this case in the newspapers, for the reason that the baroness-has been already embarrassed by too much notoriety; however, I do want to say that the district attorney, I see, is chafing under the defeat he met in not being able to show the court at Knoxville the slightest evidence against the baroness to justify his charge of espionage. There was no such agreement made as the one referred to in Mr. Kennerly's letter. The only thing required of Baroness Zoliner when she was given a hearing at Knoxville was that she make bond in the sum of $2,300, which she did. "Judge Sanford said nothing about the

BEUTIFUL HAIR

Every particle of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Draw a moist cloth through hair and double its beauty at once.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, bundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this -moisten a cloth with a little Dander-ine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once Danderine dissolves every particle of dafidruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks use when you will actually see new hair-fine and downy at first-yes-but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for preity, soft hair and lots of it. lever spent,-(Adv.)
